

Introducing Magellan Health Insights: a blog from Magellan Health

Magellan Health recently launched a blog that showcases thought leadership and innovation. Magellan Health Insights features the voices of clinical experts and business leaders who have a great deal of knowledge and insight into critical issues that impact our industry. You can subscribe to the blog by clicking the “Stay in the know” box.

We encourage you to like and share content on your LinkedIn and Twitter profiles. You can also email posts that you find interesting. Please email mediarelations@magellanhealth.com with any comments or suggestions.

Recently, a blog titled, Value-Based Purchasing: Putting the Wheels into Motion, was written by Monica Collins who is the senior director of system transformation for Magellan Behavioral Health of Pennsylvania, Inc. In this role, she is responsible for leading the strategy and planning efforts in system transformation. Her responsibilities include engaging providers, state agencies and stakeholders in a collaborative approach to develop a high-value service delivery system. She brings more than 20 years of behavioral healthcare experience to this role from a provider and then a payer perspective.